FOUND ON THE BEACH.

Dead Body of an Old Man—He Was Tired of Life.

The dead body of an unknown man, about seventy years of age was found on the beach at Lighthouse Point yesterday morning at 8 o'clock by John W.
Kennedy, who boards at 111 Saltonstall avenue. He discovered it while he was searching along the shore for drift wood. The body was lying on a stretch of sand out of reach of the ebb tide.
Just this side of the old lighthouse.
Medical Examiner White was notified and he at once proceeded to make an examination of the body.

The dead man was about five feet nine inches, had a white beard and was partly bald. He wore dark clothes, and in one of his trousers pockets, wrapped up in a red cotton handkerchief, was found a pocketbook containing ten cents and a number of tickets redeemable at the "E. E. D." store in exchange for "Gold aluminum ware." He also had a razor in a spectacle case.

Captain Snow, who lives near by recognized the body as that of a man who called at his house late Saturday night.
He gave him food and drink. He was lame and carried a cane. He told Captain Snow that he had a son who was an engineer for a transportation company here, and remarked that he was old and didn't care to live. He told the captain that he came from New York and was looking for his son, who was an engineer for the transportation company.

The Italian who keeps the fruit stand at the terminus of the car line says the old man bought cakes and ginger ale from him Sunday afternoon. Dr. White is unable to say as yet whether it is a case of suicide or not.

The body had been submerged in the water, but whether the man had thrown himself in or falling asleep had thus met his death when the tide rose cannot be ascertained.

The body was removed to Lewis & Maycock's morgue.

Early last evening a lady, who refused to disclose her name, called at Lewis & Maycock's and viewed the remains of the drowned man. While she declined to give her name or that of the dead man she said that he was her father and that she would telegraph to her brother, who is at present out of the city, and that he would arrive here this morning and take charge of the remains. Despite all efforts she refused to disclose her identity.

Medical Examiner White stated last night that he had not stated that it was a case of suicide, as reported in the afternoon papers, but would report that the man's death was due to drowning.

Lowest Point Reached.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Secretary Carlisle to-day declined to accept the tender of $100,000 in gold from the associated banks of Springfield, Ill., as the conditions imposed were unfavorable.
The true treasury gold reserve stood at the close of business to-day at $95,348, 642, the lowest point reached since the last bond issue.
